New Book Guides Readers to Sobriety, Sanity, and Serenity

TULSA, OK – After 10 years spent teaching a weekly class on recovery at the same treatment center that helped him with his drug and alcohol problem over thirteen years ago, Tulsan Bill Hanks has personally worked with over 8000 patients in recovery.

In his new book releasing this week, “Serenity: It’s a God Deal,” Hanks provides Twelve-Step based support and teachings to those in need. Although this book was written from the perspective of a recovering addict, the reality is that readers don’t have to be drug addicts or alcoholics to benefit from a spiritual pilgrimage that has led millions to peace of mind—from desperation and despair, to hope and then Serenity.

The Rev. James D. Miller, Ph.D., Pastor, First Presbyterian Church, Tulsa, said, “This book, written by one who knows addiction, reads like an informal back-porch discussion; it talks about real life, it infuses real hope, it invites serious reflection.”

Published by Tate Publishing and Enterprises, the book is available through bookstores nationwide, from the publisher at www.tatepublishing.com/bookstore, or by visiting barnesandnoble.com or amazon.com.

Hanks has a B.S. in Business Administration from Austin College and recently retired from a twenty-five-year career on Wall Street, the last eleven of which he spent as co-founder and co-manager of an Oklahoma based Registered Investment Advisory firm. He resides in Tulsa, Oklahoma.
