

OTTAWA COUNTY FAMILIES

SOME NATIVE AMERICAN FAMILIES OF OTTAWA COUNTY

The following pages contain information in relation to some families in what became Ottawa County. This information is part of an ongoing project to publish expanded indexes of these early Native American records. The series of books are available through the publisher and new booklets are added, as public domain microfilm is transcribed. Therefore, the material herein is not totally representative of each of the tribes located in the county today. The following publications are included in this volume:

The following introduction appears in each of the booklets and describes the content and source of the pages contained herein.

Introduction

This expanded index of various tribal rolls is transcribed from microfilmed tribal census, rolls, etc. The microfilm is housed in the Archives and Manuscripts Division of the Oklahoma Historical Society, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma. It is also the understanding of the transcribers that copies are also available through the National Archives, Washington, DC, and through various businesses dealing with microfilmed public records.

The purpose of this index is to assist the genealogical or family history researcher in establishing the possibility that a particular individual may be found on the roll, census, etc. It is not meant to be proof or "the last word", with regard to Native American blood. This book is not all inclusive of information for the years covered. Every effort has been made to make as exact a transcription as possible and no effort has been made to correct obvious differences in spelling, grammar or punctuation. Each document included in this book is alphabetized, rather than being generally alphabetized.
